INTENSIVE TEACHING

The bottleneck in the progress of American riding is, by general agreement, the problem of teaching. We have ample numbers of suitable horses and ponies. We have children and adults in numbers which are increasing at a remarkable rate who want to improve their standard of riding. In spite of encroaching cities we have ample territory in which to ride and the accompanying facilities or the means to construct them.

We also have a great many riding schools where horses may be hired and lessons obtained. The vast majority of these, however, attempt only to provide their customers with confidence, enthusiasm, healthful exercise, and a reasonable degree of safety. Their proprietors, who operate on a very narrow margin of profit, contend that this is all the customers want or can afford. Nevertheless most riders want to improve their riding and a fair percentage are willing to spend the time, money and effort if given an opportunity. It is these people who face a bottleneck.

As long as horses were an essential part of every military establishment, as long as there were cavalry regiments, there were also cavalry schools which maintained a high standard of riding in the major countries of the world, in this country at Fort Riley, whose spokesman was the late Col. Harry Chamberlain. In most countries horse sports are represented by National Equestrian Federations, in the United States and Canada these being their respective Horse Shows Associations. It would have been logical for these Federations to establish national Riding Schools to replace the former Cavalry Schools, to maintain the highest standards of equitation, and to give diplomas to graduates who had established their ability to teach—but unfortunately they have not seen fit to make the effort to do so. Our only national teaching program is for children, carried out on a volunteer basis by the U. S. Pony Clubs, Inc.; although providing an eminently sound foundation its primary emphasis is necessarily at the beginners' level.

For intermediate and advanced instruction we still have to rely largely on individuals whose training stems, directly or indirectly, from the Cavalry Schools—just how we eventually are going to replace them is a separate problem. Very few of these teachers have been able to enlist enough pupils on a year round basis to support a permanent school offering at least some courses at the higher levels—there are certainly less than a dozen. A more characteristic pattern has been the establishment of intensive courses (also called centers and clinics), lasting one to three weeks, conducted by an eminent teacher who goes from one locality to another where a group of enthusiasts band together to obtain his services. That seems to be the American pattern—a week or so of concentrated effort, rather than time and patience spread over a period of years. (Which is better for the horse is also a separate problem).

At any rate people who really want to improve their riding cannot plead that there is no qualified instructor in the neighborhood. We have a number of such instructors who have arranged their careers so that they can visit virtually any neighborhood that wants them. To this extent the bottleneck has been widened.

Correction

Dear Sir:

In the edition of The Chronicle published October 7th, 1960, you published a photograph on page 16 which is captioned 'U. S. Jumping and Dressage Riders at Aachen, Germany'. Beneath this photograph you list the names of the riders and mounts from left to right and have identified the young lady to the right of Frank Chapot as Jessica Newberry on Forstrat. This is a mistake, as the rider in this position is Karen McIntosh on Scipio, who placed second in the dressage event for foreign riders at Aachen. Next to her is Mme. Firmin-Didot, and then Trish Galvin. Jessica Newberry did not ride in this parade. However, Miss Newberry did ride in the farewell parade on the last day of the Aachen Show. I am sure that you are interested in correcting this error, and I would greatly appreciate having the correction appearing in the next issue, since Miss McIntosh, beside being second in the dressage event for foreign riders, did well at Aachen in being placed in every competition in which she entered, especially in the Grand Prix where she placed ninth on Maltheser in an event in which nineteen competitors started.

Reading your paragraph about the harrowing experience of Miss Newberry before the Grand Prix in Rome when she missed her horse reminds me that the vanning of the horses was a handicap to all of the competitors.

Very truly yours,
Richard L. Watjen

Big Day at Small Track

Raleigh Burroughs

Mr. Edward F. Farrell, Jr., is a personable young gent who runs cozy little Marlboro Race Course in Southern Maryland.

Marlboro is situated on U. S. Route 301. During the track's racing season (which opens during dove season and runs into squirrel) thousands of automobiles pass the premises. Some of them turn in to allow their occupants to enjoy the extraordinary benefits of half-mile racing.

These advantages are: a good view of the races for those who come to watch, and a tremendously high percentage of winning favorites for persons who take this business seriously. Show parlay addicts find golden opportunities at the half-milers, as nearly all the favorites manage to finish in the money.

On the last Friday at Mr. Farrell's track, six of the eight favorites won and the other two ran second. Anyone crazy enough to attempt to run a $10 place parlay would have won $201.10.

On closing day, Saturday, October 22, six of nine favorites won, but the place parlay would have blown with the sixth race. The show parlay also would have busted in the same stanza.

Unique

As an entrepreneur of racing, Mr. Farrell is unusual in that he sends out press releases in capital letters and holds four stakes races in one afternoon.

Communiques from racetracks in capital letters get especial attention from editors. They are forced to read 'em. As linotype operators follow the script verbatim, someone must go over the sheet and indicate which letters should be caps and which lower case in order that the printing will come out in conventional style.

Thus, the men who prepare copy for publication may not skip hurriedly over Mr. Farrell's releases. Every line and every word must be read and digested, lest an unwanted capital letter get into print.

The result is that all editors, whether they wish to or not, learn all about Mr. Farrell's track, its pleasant dining terrace, its seven-furlong chute, and its stakes races.

There is no trickery about the added-money events, except that Mr. Farrell advertises one and may end up with from two to four.

No client of the course could fault such a consummation. Nor could any horse owner or breeder.

Proprietors of Thoroughbreds love to have stakes winners. Probably there is no place in the world where more people get stakes winners out of one race than at Mr. Farrell's track.

This year's running of his Marlboro Nursery Stakes was the fifth, and eleven horses have been returned winners, without dead-heats.

In 1956, the year the Nursery was inaugurated, so many owners wanted in that the race was run in three divisions; another time two races were required to take care of all the two-year-olds entered, and the 1960 renewal attracted so many that Mr. Farrell put on four "Nurseries."

In Bunches

When somebody asked a homeward bound race fan, "Who won the Marlboro Nursery?" the answer had to be "Man O' Lou, Moaning Low, Pilate Gal and Jeune Occupy."

Then the fellow who asked the question had to say, "I didn't want the list of entries; I just wanted to know who won."

It could lead to a long conversation.

Mr. Farrell might be a bit old-fashioned as managers of minor tracks go. He does not feel it necessary to offer dreams of social security in the form of Pick-Six devices, and is satisfied with eight races per day (nine on special days).

The daily double is all right with Mr. F. because it is all right with the people who run Belmont Park.

Being old-fashioned as he is, Ed Farrell has the notion that people go to racetracks to see horses, so he gives them horses, not gimmicks.

He knows that a stakes victory is the prize most coveted by owners and breeders, so he puts on a race that makes stakes winners.

Jockeys, too, like to brag that they have brought home the bacon in added-money races.

So Mr. Farrell just goes along in his old-timey way of doing things and makes owners, trainers, breeders, fans and jockeys happy.

No Report Required

No horse-player left Marlboro with the proceeds of a $10,000 Bonanza under his arm, but neither did any betting enthusiast have to fill out Form 1099 for the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service.

Going through life spreading happiness is its own reward. Generally, the only thing the spreader gets out of it is satisfaction.

Sometimes, though, the returns are material.

In a world which had just about decided a small racecourse couldn't exist without a multiple betting scheme that promised great riches for two bucks, Mr. Farrell was put down as an ultra-conservative - maybe a reactionary.

But by just using horses and carding a particularly attractive race, he brought in 8,803 customers on October 22. The handle for the afternoon was $675,581, the biggest ever for the course at Upper Marlboro, Maryland.

As racetrack managers are not slow to copy novel schemes that prove successful for others, more minor courses are likely to follow Mr. Farrell's lead.

At the minor tracks in recent months, emphasis has been placed on the possibility of striking gold. The advertising theme has been great wealth for small investment.

Mr. Farrell's idea of putting the horse back in horseracing is radical, indeed; but when others read about that $675,581 they've got to agree that it has some merit.

He may have started a trend.

Monmouth Hunt Races

Chris Wood, Jr.

Favored with fair weather for the first time in three years, the 30th annual fall race meeting sponsored by the Monmouth County Hunt Racing Association lured some 6,000 persons to the hillsides of Mr. and Mrs. Amory L. Haskell's Woodland Farm, near Red Bank, N. J., on Saturday, October 22. Following on the heels of the two-day United Hunts Racing Association's session at Belmont Park the charity meeting turned out to be the best in decades.

With only one more timber race scheduled to be run on hunt racing's fall agenda, Mrs. Virginia M. Duvall's Valley Hart clinched the United Hunts Racing Association's $1,000 timber division award with a 3/4's of a length triumph over Mrs. William D. Hail's Full Stop in the 30th running of the Monmouth County Hunt Cup.

A field of 6 cross-country horses contested the 3-mile race over 21 timber fences and the finish was worthy of a 5-furlong dash as the eventual winner and Full Stop became an embattled pair from the last fence to the wire. Adeptly handled by rider-trainer James Hruska, Valley Hart was 4th in the early running as George T. Weymouth's Ferris Burg opened up a 10-length advantage over his field. Closest to the pace-setter was Full Stop, under rider-trainer H. C. (Jiggs) Baldwin III, with George L. Ohrstrom, Jr.'s *Fast in 3rd position.

The 1st of 2 mishaps was brought off over the 2nd obstacle, where Paul C. Baldwin's Fairplex made a bad landing, depositing Ronald Houghton on the rain-softened turf, without injury. The next was registered over the 13th where Mrs. Wilfrid Wood's Latin Lancer lost amateur rider Louis Neilson III, also without injury.

Tiring in the late stages, Ferris Burg gave way to Full Stop and the latter led over the 18th 2 1/2 lengths in front of Valley Hart, with *Fast 2 lengths in his wake. Inching up on Full Stop, who was seeking a 4th straight victory over timber, Valley Hart caught him over the 21st and final fence, landing with a head advantage. In the run to the wire both riders worked on their mounts and Valley Hart gradually drew out to win by 3/4's of a length. *Fast was 3rd, 15 lengths behind the embattled pair and 10 lengths to the good of the tiring Ferris Burg.

In negotiating the route over excellent turf in 6:48 1/5, the 7-year-old gelding by Mr. Bones-Robin Ann chalked up a 3rd and successive success over timber. Earlier he accounted for the $2,500 Cecil County Steeplechase at Fair Hill, Md.,

THE CHRONICLE

and the H. Smith Bowman Memorial Bowl during the Fairfax session at Sunset Hills, Va. The triumph gave the 'chaser from Whitehall, Md., an unbeatable total of 18 points in the timber division of the UHRA's divisional awards for hunt racing.

*Petrified 2nd Wins

Leading throughout the 2-mile trip over 16 brush fences, Mrs. F. Eugene Dixon, Jr.'s *Petrified 2nd easily accounted for the 16th running of the valuable Monmouth County Gold Cup, a $1,200 added steeplechase handicap. Breaking on top, under Robert S. McDonald, the Irish-bred 'chaser quickly disposed of James P. Salvage's recent Irish import, *Grotto Prince, and Allsion Stern's Glencannon. Following this, Charles W. Stitzer's home-bred, Rythmn Master, set after the leader but was never a serious threat.

Landing over the 16th and final fence 8 lengths in front of his field, *Petrified 2nd drew away to register by 10 lengths in 4:03 2/5. Favoring plenty of racing, *Petrified 2nd was a winner on the preceding Saturday when he scored an initial victory over brush. On Thursday he was returned to hurdle racing and finished 5th in an allowance race during the United Hunts' session at Belmont Park.

Best of the balance in the finishing field of 5, Rythmn Master held the place award safe, 4 1/2 lengths in advance of Thaddeus R. Trout's *Chicago 2nd. Glen-

United Hunts At Belmont

John E. Cooper

A rain which began on Wednesday night and continued through most of Thursday, October 20th, dampened things considerably for the first day of the United Hunts meeting. It held the attendance down to just slightly over 14,000 people, and probably had a considerable effect on the outcome of the four events decided during the two day session.

The first of these, The Adjacent, a mile and a half hurdle race for non-winners of two races in the past two seasons, drew a field of ten and developed into a tight contest. Mrs. W. R. Harris' Argentine-bred *Esteco 2nd, favored the footing, came from fourth to first around the final turn and over the last hurdle to score by a length and a quarter with Jimmy Murphy displaying a fine sense of timing. Shawnee Farm's Negocio led for about half a mile then came a cropper. The lead was then taken over by Mrs. F. Eugene Dixon, Jr.'s *Petrified 2nd, with Charkitt Stable's Brannagh right alongside. This pair raced head and head all down the far side, several lengths in front of Astrology and *Esteco 2nd. Going to the far turn, *Petrified 2nd started to give way and Brannagh established a daylight lead, but Murphy set *Esteco 2nd down for a challenge and the five-year-old gelding gradually closed on the leaders. He collared *Petrified 2nd bending into the front side, then ranged up with Brannagh after clearing the final fence and proved best in the run to the wire. Brannagh gave way in the closing yards and just saved the place by a head from Astrology, which in turn was only a head in front of Mrs. Henry Obre's Moon Rock. The latter was ridden by the owner's son, Michael Wettach, and came from far back to be a good fourth.

New York Turf Writers

Three races later, the $15,000 added New York Turf Writers came up for decision, with eight starters going two miles over 11 hurdles. From the last fence to the wire it was no contest as Mrs. Lawrence W. Knapp, Jr.'s Nautilus ran on like a fresh horse and won by a very convincing 20 lengths. Behind him, six of the rest slogged through the stretch, well tired and well beaten. The best of these was Allison Stern's lightly weighted Greek Brother (134 lbs.), six lengths to the good of the 162 pound top weight, Nala. Little Gil, Palladio, Lord Mike and Tuscarora completed the field in that order after Scottie Riles pulled up Mosby. Little Gil ridden by Tommy Walsh, and coupled with Nautilus and Lord Mike as the M. G. Walsh-trained entry, went to the front almost immediately, with Mosby in close attendance. Rounding into the front side the latter briefly received the call, but faded back after clearing the middle hurdle. Montpelier's Nala, which showed signs of being temperamental going to the post, and which did not appear willing to extend himself freely during the first half mile, was rushed up into second place behind Little Gil as Mosby retreated. Heading down the far side the last time, Little Gil still held command by a short margin at the seventh, with Nala alongside. Three lengths away Greek Brother raced easily in third place, with Evan Jackson on the eventual winner, racing fourth. Midway down, Nala started to give way and Jackson started his bid with Nautilus. Overtaking Nala going to the tenth, Nautilus ranged up with his stablemate at the fence, quickly disposed of him and opened a comfortable lead racing for the far turn. Greek Brother ranged up with Nala and Little Gil around the turn, in vain pursuit of the leader. Bending into the front side Greek Brother drew out he carried 143 lbs., four less than Tuscarora, the highest for his age, and received 10 lbs. on the scale from Nala.

The Louis Stoddard

While Friday turned up cool and clear, and a crowd of almost 19,000 came out, the infield was still quite soft, and could have contributed to the defeat of John M. Schiff's good three-year-old, Our Jeep, in the Louis Stoddard. Held at slightly more than 1 to 2 in the betting, Our Jeep could do no better than second, three lengths behind Sky's Rhythm. The latter was ridden by Tommy Walsh, who quite probably won the race by outstanding riding generalship. In this mile and seven eighths test for three-year-olds, Kamsin and Naval Treaty vied for the early lead, but going to the first turn, *Juventus, also racing for John Schiff, went to the front in an obvious effort to set a fast pace for his stablemate. Racing by the stands the first time the six runners were close-slightly from these, and very briefly gave promise of making a serious challenge for the winners share. However, once over the final hurdle, Nautilus responded easily and drew off to win by himself. His winning time was 3:31 1/5, exactly 10 seconds off the course record held by Langton Breeze.

Nautilus was bred by his owner, and is by Admiral Tan from Ballinahina Vixen. Admiral Tan is by War Admiral from the Equipoise mare, Even Tan, and was raced around the hunt meetings some years ago with modest success. Nautilus, a four-year-old gelding, is from his second crop. He broke his maiden over hurdles in 1959 as a three-year-old. In nine starts thus far in 1960, he has won his last three including the Turf Writers. In mid-September he showed a liking for an off track, winning by twenty lengths against ordinary competition. In the Turf Writers, ly bunched with *Juventus in the lead, followed by Naval Treaty, Sunny Rhodes, Kamsin, Our Jeep and Sky's Rhythm in that order. *Juventus started to give way shortly after rounding into the far side the second time, and briefly Kamsin emerged as the pacemaker. Midway down, Walsh gunned Sky's Rhythm and the Mrs. M. G. Walsh campaigner spurred into a lead which developed into four or five lengths heading for the far turn. From that point to the wire, both Schulhofer on Our Jeep and McDonald on Naval Treaty vainly tried to close the gap without success. Walsh rode his mount out, and as previously noted won by three, with Our Jeep five lengths in front of Naval Treaty. Sunny Rhodes was a weary fourth, while Albert Foot jogged up to the wire a well beaten fifth after *Juventus was passed.

The Temple Gwathmey

Riding in the manner and style that would make him stand out in a pea soup fog, Albert Foot drove Benguala on to a thrilling victory in the $50,000 added Temple Gwathmey over 13 fences and two and a half miles. Leading over the last fence, and halfway to the finish line, the lightly weighted *Chufquen put in a terrific performance and just missed, finishing three lengths behind the winner. It was 10 lengths back to the favorite, Sun Dog, for third, while another low weight, Romeo, garnered the not inconsequential sum of $4,000 for fourth. Cartagena and Versus were the only other two to finish after casualties eliminated *Easy Timer, Gridiron and Bureaucracy.

The nine starters were sent away to an even start by George Cassidy with Gridiron quickly taking the lead. Equipped with spurs and blinkers, Gridiron, which now races for L. Clay Camp, proved a bit too much for Scottie Riles, and gave the impression that he "ran away" with the veteran reinsman. In any event, for a turn of the field Gridiron, footing notwithstanding, sizzled around, at one time his lead being twenty five to thirty lengths. He began to shorten stride racing by the stands the second time, and eventually fell midway down the far side the last time when out of contention. Behind him, running and jumping in more leisurely fashion, Cartagena, *Chufquen and *Easy Timer led a closely grouped knot of horses. Although giving the appearance of urging his mount, Albert Foot held his Benguala in fifth place until rounding into the front side the second time. Jumping well, in fact jumping well clear at his fences, Benguala found the footing to his liking and gradually moved closer to the front, racing to the clubhouse turn the second time. At this point, Gridiron still led by a diminishing margin, with Cartagena and *Chufquen closest. Going down the far side the last time, the last two mentioned and Benguala closed rapidly on the tiring Gridiron. When that one fell, *Chufquen emerged as the pacemaker.

Henri Aubert's Puissant Chef (Djefou-La Sirene, by Astrophel), winner of the 15 furlong Prix Royal Oak, France's major distance test for 3-year-olds, and of the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe (1 1/2 miles), Europe's greatest International race. Both were run in heavy going on turf. His owner has accepted an invitation for the Washington, D.C., International. (Bertrand Photo)

Cartagena started to give way, Sun Dog moved closer after being well out of it to this point. Foot began his arm whirling, rein throwing style, but out in front *Chufquen continued to show the way apparently well within himself. Bending into the front side, he still held command by more than two lengths. Gaining slightly going to the final fence, Benguala got within about a length and a half of the Chilean import, but once over, Foot redoubled his efforts, and the Annapolis-Bennu gelding literally "chewed up" the ground. Ranging up on equal terms just short of the odds-board, the six-year-old Montpelier-bred, with top weight of 160 lbs., 22 more than *Chufquen, got his nose in front, then his head, and then it was all over. Increasing his advantage, he was ridden out to win by three. It was a great performance for Benguala, and a courageous ride by Albert Foot. It was also the second Gwathmey for Benguala, his first being in 1958 when he gained a hard fought nose decision over Neji.

His time for the about two and a half miles was 4:46 2/5, only 6 and 2/5 off the record set by Independence in 1959 over a fast course. A winner of both the Meadow Brook and Brook 'chases earlier in the season, Benguala's victory in the Gwathmey may be the deciding factor in the years honors for divisional leadership.

cannon and *Grotto Prince completed the order of finish as named. During the running, George T. Weymouth's Mystical Gem lost jockey A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick with a bad landing over the 13th jump, without injury.

The Navesink

The holiday-spirited day of sport opened with the Navesink a 6-furlong turf test which attracted a field of 13 starters. Coming from 10th at the break and outgaming James A. McConnell's *Bonnie Belle 2nd and Mrs. T. A. Randolph's Walrus during the running, Mrs. William Cox Wright's *Ben Arthur got up to defeat *Bonnie Belle 2nd by a length in the time of 1:27. Tiring at the conclusion, Walrus saved 3rd money, 2 1/2 lengths off the place horse and 3/4's of a length ahead of A. M. Del Balso's Fiddling Star. Ably handled by Edwin Deveau, the winner was timed in 1:27.

The Holmdel

Favoring the hurdle course at the Monmouth County Hunt Racing Association's meeting, Mrs. Henry Obre's Out of Reach scored his 3rd victory in the 1 3/4 mile test over 7 hurdles, and a 1st for his new owner. Responding to trainer-rider Kenneth Field, the 8-year-old gelding assumed command over the 5th hurdle and never relinquished the lead to score by 2 lengths. Closing well, C. Mahlon Kline's Gowran got up to be 2nd, 1/2-length to the good of James A. McConnell's *Foots.

A field of 9 contested the event with R. W. Trapnell 3rd's Granny's Will reducing it to 8 with a spill over the 4th hurdle, without apparent injury to apprentice James Wyatt. In chalking up his 3rd victory in the Holmdel, Out of Reach was timed in 3:11. The triumph also gave Mrs. Henry Obre a 3rd victory in the race and permanent possession of the challenge cup presented by Mrs. Francis P. Garvan. Previously the sports lady from Monkton, Md., accounted for the race with *Xapcourt in 1954 and Count Down in 1958. Formerly the property of Mrs. Ogden Phipps and twice winner of the United Hunts Racing Association's hurdle division $1,000 award, Out of Reach was obtained by Mrs. Obre late in the summer.

2 For Mrs. Obre

Having won the hurdle feature, he combination of Mrs. Obre and trainer-rider Kenneth Field made it two for the day by winning the Middletown with On The Lawn. A field of 10 went postward for the 1 1/4 miles race over the turf and On The Lawn was embattled in the final stages with Mrs. June H. McKnight's *Narcissus 2nd under Paddy Smithwick. Inching ahead in the final yards, On The Lawn gained the judges' decision by a neck. Caught was 3rd, 2 1/2 lengths in the wake of the hard-fought pair. In winning his 2nd straight turf race at a hunt race meeting, the 3-year-old by Armageddon-Air Rip was timed in 2:07 3/5.

*TUDOR MINSTREL MARE WINS PORTLAND

Scoring her third success in her last four outings, the five year old *Tudor Minstrel mare Accompanist ran out a game winner of the 3089 pounds Portland Handicap over five and a half furlongs at the Doncaster St. Leger meeting.

Starting at 7-1 in a field of twelve top-class sprinters, Accompanist carried 104 lb. and won by half a length from the top weighted Bleep-Bleep, who was giving her no less than 29lb. and was certainly the hero of the day even if he did not take the prize. Curiously enough, the result was an exact repetition of that of last year when the champion sprinter Right Boy had just failed to hold off the lowly-weighted New World.

*Tudor Minstrel, of course, is now located at Lelie Combs Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky. P.T.C.

SARATOGA PURCHASE

Robin F. Scully, now racing on an increased scale in England, has a most useful juvenile filly who in due course should prove to be a most valuable addition to his brood-mare band at Clovelly Farm, Lexington, Ky. This is the Palestine filly Palatina who has never been out of a place this year in six starts and at Doncaster recorded her third and most brilliant success when she carried top weight of 130 lb. to a six lengths victory over ten rivals in the Glasgow Paddocks Nursery Handicap over five furlongs worth 1136 pounds.

Carrying the asterisk, this British-bred filly was submitted in the Barracks Farm draft last year when she was obtained by the Newmarket trainer F. Armstrong. P.T.C.

Steeplechasing at Belmont

John E. Cooper

New York's final week of 'chasing began with a real upset when Mrs. Robert Dotter's Note Well, a three-year-old filly took the measure of seven colts and geldings of her age to win by a widening three and a half lengths. Sunny Rhodes, the runner-up, went to the front midway through the mile and a half hurdle test, and held on gamely when challenged by the eventual winner going around the last turn. However, into the front side and over the last hurdle, the Mrs. Leverett Miller gelding gradually gave way. *Duggan's Dew 2nd raced forwardly the entire trip and was third two and a half lengths further back, and six lengths to the fore of Adams Run, a recent claim by A. N. Winick from G. H. Bostwick. Note Well is trained by the owner's husband, Bobby Dotter, an ex-rider, and received only a few weeks schooling prior to this race by Bobby McDonald, who had the leg up. It was the first hurdle start for the Mark-Ye-Well-Double Wing filly and she jumped surprisingly well and showed speed between her fences.

The following day, Mrs. Stephen C. Clark, Jr.'s English-bred *Sunny Celt broke his maiden over hurdles, winning by four lengths under Jimmy Murphy, after making the pace from end to end. Podarces, reserved for about a turn of the field, raced strongly in the closing quarter, and might have been closer except for a bobble at the final fence. Three lengths away, *Mantegna was third after being in contention for most of the trip.

Sets Course Record

The final infield race of the Belmont meeting was on Wednesday, October 19th, when C. R. Snowden's Nizam's Pet showed the best form of her 1960 campaign. Racing at the distance of 2 miles and a furlong, further than she usually likes to go, Nizam's Pet under Paddy Smithwick, took the lead early, and jumping well all the way, held it to the end where her winning margin was two and a half lengths. Cool Warrior, racing for owner-trainer, James Walsh, went along in second place for most of the race, and was next best, 10 lengths to the fore of *Narcissus 2nd. Time for the race was 3:54, a new course record, and two fifths better than the previous mark set by My Last Try in the spring of 1959.

Jockey Problems

At the recent annual Jockey Club Conference, George D. Widener presided and Marshall Cassidy served as moderator. The panel headed by Eddie Arcaro and James E. Fitzsimmons had up for discussion the following topics: 1. Should a contract form for all jockey engagements be mandatory?

Arcaro said: "There are contracts, but many dodges. If a rider's word is not good, he doesn't last long." The noted equestrian added that "Trainers (as well as riders) might like to consider contracts at considerable length before signing." Whereupon, Mr. Fitz quipped: "I don't want to wait too long if I can get Arcaro, anytime. I have no trouble about contracts."

2. Why cannot racing commissions of the tracks rule that pony boys must lead their horses from the side whereby the public can get a clear view of the animal they are betting on from both sides in the post parade?

Arcaro said: "Eighty per cent that have a pony don't actually need one. In New York, they hold down the number of ponies. At the same time, I am not sure when I ask for a pony if I want to do without one. In California a lot of green

2-year-olds are scared half to death and can get hurt switching from side to side of a pony." Mr. Fitz added that: "We lead horses from the right side in the morning. It might be confusing for them to switch about in the afternoon."

3. Does the apprentice rule need revision?

Mr. Fitz said: "I am in favor of a larger apprentice allowance. First we had seven pounds, then that didn't work out well and we went to five, then seven again two or three years, now back to five. It ought to be 10 up to 10 races, seven up to 40." Arcaro said: "I disagree. Are you trying to make exercise riders or jocks?"

Mr. Fitz expressed the opinion that the races for novice jockeys are a good thing and here again Arcaro begged leave to differ, saying: "You ought to see the movies of those novice races. As for the 10 pounds' pull, ask Kilroe what 10 pounds will do. This is the only game in the world in which the apprentice does not have to work for something. From my observations, the majority of these new riders will be useful exercise boys and great ping-pong players."

"Rex Ellsworth said he will allow The Jockey Club to use the facilities of his place in California to simulate races as a sort of 'finishing school' for those boys who have ridden a year or two and only need a little polish. I think this is a capital idea. I am for screening the boys who are riding over the country, then schooling those who have aptitude and are not going to get big as elephants."

"A few years ago we had Shoemaker around here. Giving him 10 pounds would have been a license to steal. Ten pounds allows an unfair advantage. A boy can make 30 mistakes and still win."

Mr. Fitz urged that: "Mr. Hanes and Kilroe are on the right road, but those boys need more than five pounds." Arcaro insisted: "Those apprentice races are dangerous" and asked The Jockey Club's help in establishing the finishing school. Jockey Boulmetis' opinion was solicited and he said: "Ten pounds for 20 winners? Then after the 20, the career is over." Hirsch Jacobs thought that if "...The weights in the conditions of the races were up to scale, we would have plenty of big riders." Mr. Fitz was agreed.

TOP AMERICAN JOCKEY?

Based on percentage of winners, the leading rider in North America currently is neither Willie Shoemaker or Willie Hartack. On a percentage basis the top jockey is Avelino Gomez, who for the most of this season has been 'bringing them in' on Ontario tracks. Gomez has established an amazing record of riding better than one winner in each three mounts he rides, or in baseball parlance he is batting .350. Normally a mark of 20 per cent winners is considered commendable.

*BALLY ACHE TO STUD

Leading money winner of 1960, Turf-land's 3-year-old colt *Bally Ache (Ballydam-Celestial Blue, by Supremus), who broke down during the running of the Hawthorne Cup Prep on October 8th, will make the 1961 season at Robert A. Alexander's Bosque Bonita Farm near Versailles, Ky. As a 2-year-old he won the Hialeah Juvenile Stakes, the Comely Stakes, the Belmont Juvenile, the Great American and the Mayfield Stakes. He was second in the Cherry Hill Stakes, the Arlington Futurity, the Sapling Stakes, the Washington Park Futurity and the World's Playground Stakes and the Garden State. He also ran third in the Tremont and the Cowdin.

This year he won the Flamingo at Hialeah, the Florida Derby at Gulfstream, the Preakness and the Jersey Derby, being second to *Venetian Way in the Kentucky Derby. His total earnings amount to $758,522, a good return for a colt who was purchased for $5,000 with an additional $2,500 "on the cuff".

A good winner at sprint and middle distances, Navy Brass recently won the Philadelphia Turf Handicap, but went wrong in training shortly thereafter.

GRAYSON FOUNDATION

Writing in "The Morning Telegraph", columnist Hugh J. McGuire, observes:—"Three reports of interest to breeders were on the agenda at the meeting on October 15th at Belmont of the Grayson Foundation. These deal with the research that has gone on in virus, horse parasites and bacteriology during 1959 and 1960. Grayson president Clarkson Beard, in cooperation with the researchers, completed three papers which will be published in their entirety in the Foundation's regular bulletins to members and subscribers. Dr. E. R. Doll of the University of Kentucky reported that 10,078 vaccinations (nasal spray) were administered to 5,906 horses, including 567 horses in training, the first time the study was applied to racing stock. Investigations on rhinopneumonitis included abortions, respiratory infection and laboratory studies.

Virus Abortions

Some results were very encouraging in this second year of the program. There were 28 farms that participated both years, with a total of 955 pregnant mares. There were two abortions caused by native virus and not by the vaccine. The first year, 11 farms with 423 pregnant mares, had 16 virus abortions, seven of which appeared to be due to the vaccine, the others to native virus. Ten farms which had not vaccinated reported 21 abortions with eight on one farm. In the two years there were 2,218 pregnancies subjected to the vaccine and 28 abortions of which 10 appeared to be caused by the vaccine. All abortions caused by the vaccine occurred the first year of the program. During the two years there were 47 abortions from rhinopneumonitis virus by non-vaccinated mares on 25 farms.

Standardbreds Vaccinated

The report concluded there is little danger of initial use of the virus causing abortion in areas where horse farms are in close proximity, as in central Kentucky. An encouraging report came from Orlando, Fla., where standardbreds were vaccinated. It was thought that the vaccinations lessened the severity of an epidemic of respiratory diseases there and when the horses came north they were free of influenza whereas horses from other areas and unvaccinated, were plagued with coughs.

One of the interesting items in the report of Dr. J. H. Drudge on parasites was that eight parasite-free pony foals were born this year and seven are now being raised in wire-bottom cages to prevent parasite infection. When these animals are used for studies on experimental infections of parasites it will be the first time that it has been applied to an animal in the equine family although used successfully in sheep.

Bacteriological Research

In bacteriological research by Dr. John T. Bryans two of the diseases under investigation are strangles, or distemper, and Salmonella. The results of the latter investigations indicate that Salmonella infections are an important cause of febrile diarrhea of horses. A bacterin promises to be useful for prevention of the disease. There is a great amount of detail in these reports which lack of space prevents presenting here. The researchers at the University of Kentucky and the Grayson Foundation are commendably hesitant to make claims not fully substantiated by time but there are several areas in these reports that are encouraging.

TAXING BIG PAY-OFFS

Well, it has finally happened.

One of the last things racing needs is more paper work and more government inquisitors looking over its shoulder. It looks, however, as if that is just what racing stands in a good way to get.

A couple of days ago, Mr. Spencer Drayton of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, Inc. which is the trade association of major race tracks, sent out a telegram to the members asking if they had had any inquiries from the federal government regarding pay-offs at the pari mutuel windows in excess of some specific sum. I think the sum was $600.00.

Can't you see what that will lead to. The cashier will have to take the name and address and probably social security number of everybody cashing large-paying pari mutuel tickets and the lucky souls will have to pay taxes on their winnings unless they are smart enough to pick up enough non-winning tickets at the track to offset their winnings. (On your tax return you can offset winnings against losings.) That ought not to be too hard to accomplish, but think of the extra work.

So, here comes Uncle Sam, folks, with his outstretched hand poised to reach deeper into your pockets. If Uncle Sam plays his cards just right, he can probably manage to kill off Thoroughbred racing entirely by driving people to bookies to bet (tax free) on fixed basketball games and when the first swallow returns to Capistrano and stuff like that.

And I'll give you three guesses where Uncle Sam got this new and brilliant idea. The large and well-publicized pay-offs from the pic six wagering. R. J. Clark

NUMBERS GAME

In California, jockeys refuse to wear the usual leather shoulder numbers on the grounds they are "bothersome", and they further point out that the horse has the number pinned to the bridle. Of recent months in Eastern Canada and U. S., tracks trainers have been endeavoring to eliminate head numbers for horses, claiming they make mounts nervous. Jockeys hereabouts however, have never complained about their numbers. It would appear the two factions will have to arrive at some sort of compromise. Actually either or both numbers can be of utmost importance to placing judges and also to the photo-finish camera, since in close races and dead heats, with a number of horses grouped together, one or the other of the numbers and quite often the saddle cloth may be obscured. E.O.

MEXICAN RACING SEASON

The 18th racing season at the Hipodromo de las Americas track, covering 179 days of racing, is over. This was one of the longest racing seasons in the sport of kings throughout the world for it virtually extended throughout the entire year. Racing week limited to four days, with cards on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. In the final 2 weeks this was reduced to Saturday and Sunday only.

Wind up cards for the last Saturday and Sunday of the long meet were not sensational. The Pichucalco Handicap was taken by "Melindrosa," mare of the Santiago Stables, making a 6 furlong distance in 1:13 1/5 and paying off 46 pesos ($3.68) for each 10 pesos (80 cents) invested.

Mrs. Theodora A. Randolph's SUTLER, Harlan Dalton up, winning the $25,000 added Benjamin Franklin Handicap at Garden State Park. Ouija Board (No. 8) was second; Careless John (No. 5) was third. (Turfotos)

The Closing Handicap was taken by Fol, with jockey Guillermo Sanchez up, in a photo finish with strong favorite Delfin losing out. Fol returned 40 pesos ($3.20) for each 10 pesos ticket.

In the last two days there was a duel between jockeys Guillermo Sanchez and Guillermo Milord to chalk up top number of victories, and the laurels went to the latter.

Milord, on Saturday, brought in four winning mounts, (Sanchez 3) and exceeded this Sunday by riding winners in five consecutive races, from the second to the sixth events. In the seventh, he was mounted on War Reporter, high favorite to take the Pichucalco Handicap, but mount tired and came in third.

Record at the local track is six consecutive races, with this achieved by Chilean jockey Jose Bravo. Nobody has as yet made a clean sweep of bringing in winners of all races in an 8 or 9 race card. But this is the dream of all jockeys competing at the Hipodromo oval.

While Milord made a spectacular showing on final two days of the meet, top jockey of the season was Mexican Guillermo Sanchez. E.Z.

TWO-YEAR-OLD RACING SCHEDULES

Trainer Hirsch Jacobs said up at Saratoga that his daughter's excellent two-year-old, Hail To Reason, "tells me when he wants to run."

I wonder what the colt told Mr. Jacobs when he broke down during a work-out at Aqueduct last month.

Hail To Reason had run eighteen times as a two-year-old and the year was not yet three quarters over. A lot of people (including me) think that is too heavy a schedule for a youngster and that it led inevitably to the break down. However, take a look at what some other two-year-olds have done in the way of heavy schedules.

Alsab ran 22 times at that age, Sea-biscuit was out 35 times in his first year on the track, and Stymie (also trained by Mr. Jacobs although not as a two-year-old) ran 28 times at that tender age. The records of those animals in subsequent years hardly needs recounting. Heavy campaigns didn't seem to hurt them.

On the other hand, I've heard of people who can stay under water for five minutes but it is hardly recommended as a standard practice. R. J. Clark

TWO-BUCK BETTOR NOT TO BLAME

The declining mutuel handle at most of the tracks in the Canadian Northwest (even Edmonton is down) can't be blamed on the two-buck punter. He's still tossing in his full share. The shortage is being felt at the $50 windows, and it doesn't take too many of those to make the totals plummet downward. Would it help if the tracks were to give everybody with a $50 bill, twenty-five twos or fifty ones? E.O.

HOME FROM THE RANGE

Someone must have left a copy of Will James's famous tale of Smokey, frontier hero of yesteryear, within eye shot of the impressionable youngster Good Bird. For this promising colt and pro tem leader of the two-year-old division at Denver's Centennial Park during the summer of 1958, just upped and flew over the civilized walls of his paddock one day to take up the life of a Thoroughbred potentate with a harem of fancy-free mustangs.

Owned by Blyde McNeill, a grain and cattleman of Meeker, Colorado, Good Bird (Papa Redbird-Goody, by Menow) had just completed his initial campaign which saw him account for four victories in five starts including the Colorado Silver Stakes. Allowed to romp in a well fenced paddock, Good Bird somehow managed to clear the steep rails and took off for the Colorado hinterlands. A number of posses were launched in an attempt to locate this prodigal colt, but the only thing they found were the stories of the lonesome cowpunchers who talked of a lightning fast chestnut stallion that was king of a wild band of brood mares.

For sixteen months this almost legendary Thoroughbred roamed the steppes of western America, and if it weren't for a paralyzing blizzard, he'd probably still be roaming. This past winter following an unusually heavy snowfall, a number of rescue parties were dispatched to aid stricken cattle and horses. Among those half-starved critters was the hero of this little epic, Good Bird.

Returned to Mr. McNeill, Good Bird was allowed an extended convalescence before being forwarded to trainer Mike Seba. The four-year-old colt made his initial appearance on July 28 at Rockingham and ran a corking good race to finish third to the swift and seasoned Battle Neck. Six days later, he ran three-quarters of a mile in 1:11 flat to earn his first brackets in nearly two years.

Never out of the money in nine starts, present plans call for him to race a season or two, after which he'll take up stud duties in his native Colorado. Meanwhile, owner McNeill is currently working on a bird proof paddock - Good Bird proof, that is. (Thoroughbred Record)

BIG MONEY HORSE RACES

Of the 13 horse races in history for purses of $200,000 or more, seven have been at Garden State Park. Biggest was The Garden State for 1956 with a pot of $319,210.

FLORIDA RACING INCOME UP

Although Thoroughbred racing was held on only 170 of the state's 2,180 pari-mutuel wagering days, it contributed $14,563,817 to the state's revenue, or 55 per cent of the total received from betting. Over 2,000 additional wagering days were distributed among 17 greyhound tracks, 5 jai-alai frontons and one harness track.

LIGHTNING KILLS
FLORIDA WEANLINGS

Nine out of a group of 11 weanlings were killed by a bolt of lightning in a paddock at Meadowbrook Farm, Ocala, Fla., on October 7th. Six of the group belonged to the owners of Meadowbrook, Joe LaCroix and Israel Nasher, while two were owned by Mrs. Richard C. duPont of Wilmington, Delaware. Fortunately one of the two spared is a half-sister to Little Tumbler, by the recently deceased War Admiral.

CLAIMING QUESTIONS

At the recent annual Jockey Club Conference, George D. Widener presided and Marshall Cassidy served as moderator. The panel headed by Francis P. Dunne and Joseph F. Flanagan had up for discussion the following topics: 1. Question of rights to claim a horse as covered in New York Rule 314 (a), (b), and (c) - Whether an owner should be denied the right to claim a horse when his trainer or agent has already filed a claim in the same race for another client.

Flanagan felt trainers should not be allowed to claim for a number of people in one stable, though it would be cricket were claims filed for different horses. Cassidy quoted from the New York rule one may not claim for more than one owner, but disagreed with the rule inasmuch as every owner has a right to claim.

2. Should a horse be allowed to be claimed if for some reason he is scratched on the way to the post and did not run in the race? When should a horse be considered a starter for that purpose?

Flanagan expressed a preference for the old rule - a horse is a starter, for claiming purposes, once he steps on the track, and noted that there is a fairly uniform rule a horse is subject to claim if he breaks, claimants taking their risks along with the betting public.

3. Could long, tedious post parades be eliminated by having a parade before the horses enter the paddock for saddling, with the names and numbers of the horses displayed?

Jockey Eddie Arcaro had something of interest in re: long post parades. "In New York, we race in the early spring and late fall. Elsewhere horses are rushed to the gate when it is cold. In Maryland the parade is six minutes or less in cold weather. In Canada they gallop to the gate directly from the paddock. New York is backward in this respect."

AQUEDUCT MEETING UP

Like every other meeting at Aqueduct since it was opened in September, 1959, the 23-day session from August 29th to September 24th was up in attendance (8 per cent) and in mutuel handle (12 per cent).

Sanchez Wins Tevis Cup

At a dinner sponsored by the Auburn, California Chamber of Commerce for some 400 contestants, their families and interested horsemen, Ernie Sanchez of Woodside, California riding Marco B. was announced the 1960 winner of the Lloyd Tevis Grand Award for Horsemanship and winner of the 100 Mile-One Day Endurance Ride, through the High Sierra Trails, from Tahoe City to Auburn.

Sanchez, in winning this well controlled and greatest of all endurance rides sponsored by the Western States Trail Ride, Inc. of Auburn, established a fantastic new time of 14 hours and 35 minutes; setting a pace which enabled 8 other of the 43 contestants to break the previous record time of 18 hours. It was not all smooth going for Sanchez, however; at one time he was discovered by the official ride photographer to be 4 1/2 miles off the trail and was guided back. Not long after this delaying experience his mount lost a shoe. Digging around in the debris of an abandoned mining camp, Sanchez found a mule shoe, small, but still some protection from the rocky trail, if only he had nails to hold it. By ripping shingles from an old building and worrying the nails out, he was able to toe tack the shoe on and make it hold long enough to get to the next check point before his horse became foot sore. After re-shoeing, Sanchez had to increase his pace to regain the lead he had lost - (estimated time loss 85 minutes).

Leaving the final check stop, he was in third position. Since it was now dark and he was afraid of getting lost again, Sanchez decided to stay right with Wendell Robie, president of the Western Trail group, who had laid out the course. Robie, at 66 years of age, one of the greatest and most rugged endurance riders, was beautifully mounted on John Rodgers Arabian "Ankor" which Sanchez believed was the horse he had to beat. This proved to be sound judgment, since they soon passed Betty Jay, 16, of Sacramento who was making a terrific bid, but could not maintain the pace. Robie and Sanchez rode the last five miles at an amazingly fast clip. It was neck and neck all the way, the deciding factor being Sanchez' maneuver-

Endurance rider Establishes Record - Ernie Sanchez and Marco "B" cut three and one half hours from the record time for the Tevis Cup Century Ride. Sanchez, trainer of polo ponies from Woodside, California, used his half Thoroughbred half Mustang mount to set a pace which led eight of the 43 contestants, in this years 10 Miles-One Day Tahoe City to Auburn Ride, to better the previous record of 18 hours. Ernie and Marco finished in fine shape as the picture shows.

er of changing sides with Robie so he would be on the inside making the turn into the Fairgrounds gate (the finish line). Since the ride rules state the winner will be the first horse to finish in good condition, it was not known, even to the judges, which horse was the winner until after re-examination of both at noon the following day.

third horses were Arabs - however nothing can be decided from this because all breeds were represented and all performed admirably.

Those horse authorities who have witnessed this ride agree it is well managed and that all who win a 100 Mile-One Day Award Buckle by finishing in the allotted time are good horsemen and certainly own a good horse.

THE CHRONICLE

Since both horses were in acceptable condition, Sanchez's mount was declared the winner - he had passed through the gate under the finish line sign first.

In re-checking ride statistics and veterinary reports, Judges Hulse and Linfoot noted that none of the 43 contesting horses were in any way the worse for the ride. The riders' ages were not significant, Robie at 66 took second place, Count Fredric von Lederbur of Austria at 67 rode a strange horse to eighth place, and Betty Jay at 16 placed third. Aged horses, however proved, themselves best for endurance and geldings were two to one better than mares. Horses from the high mountain areas had no advantage over those from near sea level. The first three place horses were all lowlanders. The winning horse, a polo pony belonging to Dr. Schulte of Woodside, Calif., was half Thoroughbred and half Mustang. The second and

TANHEATH HUNT CLUB

The Tanheath Hunt Club, Inc. held their first "Blessing of the Hounds" on Sunday, October 9, 1960 at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Vincent Votolato, North Ave., Mendon, Mass. It was a beautiful day and most members were present plus a large public attendance. Father Gallagher of Ashland gave the blessing. Several of the Tanheath members were mounted and their horses were also given a special blessing. These blessings were in observance of St. Hubert's Day (Patron Saint of Hunters). The club hopes to make this a tradition of our Club. Dr. Pew of Auburndale, a guest of Mr. Peter Gage of Ashland, was present for the blessing and the hunt which followed. T.A.

THE (WRONG) WAY OF THE IRISH

The Irish seem to have a special genius for taking the wrong course during the Olympic Games. This happened in 1948 when Col. J. J. Lewis went wrong and again in 1956 when the Three-Day-Event Team was eliminated as Capt. Ian Dudgeon, riding Copper Coin (in the '60 Games re-christened The Grasshopper, the mount of Michael Page), cut a flag. In the 1960 event Harry Freeman Jackson, captain of the Three-Day-Team, who had a faultless round and earned bonus points over the cross-country course, simply neglected to take the first of the stadium jumps. Although Ireland's riders have a tendency to wander, their horses (i.e. bred in Ireland) came through the Three-Day Trials with flying colors, placing 3rd, 4th, 9th, 12th, 16th, 17th, 22nd, 26th, 27th, 29th and 34th. The above 11 got around the difficult cross-country course as did also St. Finbarr, ridden by Freeman Jackson.

CAMARGO HUNT

628 Dixie Terminal Building,
Cincinnati 2, Ohio.
Established 1925.
Recognized 1928.

(The following letter was recently sent to subscribers by the Joint Masters of the Camargo Hunt.)

This is the start of another season for the Camargo Hunt and we hope it will be a successful one with lots of good runs.

This letter is to outline a new departure, something of an experiment in hunting attire.

Until further notice, for cub hunting during the mornings and for Tuesday afternoon hunting when informal attire is worn, the Field may wear Hunting Caps if they so wish. On Saturday afternoons and holidays Hunting Caps may not be worn by the Field. On these afternoons we would like to see the Field dressed formally, which of course means:

Gentlemen in Scarlet, with Top Hats.

Gentlemen in Black, with Derbys.

Ladies, with Derby Hats.

Hunting, of course, goes back over many, many years and its traditions should be observed. One such is that its followers should be properly and neatly turned out, and we hope that you will co-operate in this respect.

AMERICAN MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY ACQUIRES RARE HOUND

When a careless driver recently struck an animal against a fence in New York, they probably thought they had killed a small deer. Actually, it was an Ibizan hound which had strayed too far from home.

These hare and rabbit retrievers, much prized by the ancient Phoenicians and Egyptians, have all but disappeared from the world, their last stronghold being Spain's island of Ibiza. A similar strain of the breed, known to the Romans as the "Vertagus" was considered the best of hounds in 16th century England. The breed there was abandoned and absorbed by others with the rising interest in dog coursing.

Recent efforts to establish Ibizan hounds in the United States have to date been unsuccessful due to the scarcity of purebred imports. The hound acquired this week by the Museum of Natural History, N.Y.C., was the first to enter this country that had been certified as purebred by Ibiza's Hunter's Association, and the Museum welcomed the opportunity to make a closer study of this unusual breed.

Ibiza's natives began to take a more serious interest in these wonderfully intelligent and gentle hounds when archaeologists dug up ancient coins bearing representations of the hounds, shortly after the turn of the century. A Register for these hounds has been kept on the Island which the American Kennel Club is currently looking into.

HUNT COLORS

As a result of extensive study and meetings with officers of the Masters of Foxhounds Association of America, the Board of Directors of the American Horse Shows Association have adopted the following rules in regard to the use of Hunt Colors which will become effective with the 1961 Rule Book.

Only those riders who have been invited to do so by their Master of Foxhounds and who carry a current card issued by the Masters of Foxhounds Association of America shall be permitted to wear the colors of a particular hunt. The cards of the riders on all ribbon winners must be inspected by the Judge and any rider wearing colors to which he is not entitled shall be disqualified. In the event that rider holds a current card but does not have it in his immediate possession or is entitled to receive one, the show secretary may accept a signed statement to that effect which must be submitted to the AHSA.

Persons, not members of a Recognized Hunt, are permitted to ride in Appointment and Hunt Team classes. Their appointments shall be the same as those outlined in the Rule Book for Huntsman, Whipper-In, or Member except that the coat collar must be of the same color and material as the coat and the buttons must be plain.

Hunt Teams may be entered under the name of an exhibitor or from an active Recognized Hunt. However, when a team is entered in the name of a hunt, all riders must be members or on the Staff of the Hunt. (Horse Show)

TRYON HOUNDS

Tryon Hounds were roaded all through September. Informal cubbing started October 8th and formal hunting will begin in November when Ernst Mahler, Joint M.F.H., returns from Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Mahler of Chinquapin Farm and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mahler, attended the Olympic Games in Rome and are now touring Europe. L.L.L.

Tanheath Beagle Trials

The Tanheath Hunt Club, Inc. held their Second Annual Beagle Trials on Saturday and Sunday, October 1 & 2. The weather was ideal and we were more than pleased with the entries. On Saturday the Trials were held at Pout Pond in Uxbridge. It was a beautiful day. There was a rather sharp breeze in the early morning, but it died down a little as the day progressed. Each pack seemed to have an equal chance and rabbits were plentiful, giving both the beagles and their owners great sport, many of them winning silver trophies and ribbons. Silver Revere bowls and four ribbons were given in all classes with the exception of the Four Couple Pack, that trophy being a large silver plate. Sunday's Trials were held on the grounds of Mr. J. Francis Cove Jr. of Uxbridge. This country is a little more rugged, but the weather was again in our favor and all came back tired but well pleased. All entries were very pleased with the excellent judging. T.A.

5th World Show-Jumping Championship

Venice, Sept. 18-22

William C. Steinkraus

Capt. Raimondo d'Inzeo of Italy reaffirmed his dominant position among the world's show jumping riders by adding a second world's championship to the Olympic individual championship he had gained in Rome a fortnight earlier. In successfully defending the title he had won at Aachen in 1956 he thus equalled Hans Guntter Winkler's record of two World Championships and an Olympic individual Gold Medal, an achievement all the more remarkable in view of the fact that it was achieved with three different horses - Merano in the World Championship of 1956, Posillippo in the Rome Olympic Games, and Gowran Girl at Venice.

The 1960 World Championship was decided according to the traditional formula of three qualifying competitions - a speed class, a puissance and a class under Nations' Cup conditions - and a finals in which each of the four finalists rode the other three horses in addition to his own, the title going to the rider achieving the lowest aggregate score in this last day's competition. Each nation was limited to two riders, and for the first time, each rider was limited to a single horse in Venice's World Championship. Twelve nations represented by twenty-two riders constituted the starting field, which included most of the ranking riders of the day - the brothers d'Inzeo from Italy; Winkler and Thiedemann from Germany's winning team at Rome; d'Oriola and Fombelle from France; David Broome (the individual bronze medal winner at Rome) and David Barker from Great Britain; Lt. Col. Delia (a finalist in 1956) and Sr. Hartkopf from Argentina; along with riders from Ireland, Japan, Egypt, Uruguay, Austria and Russia. The United States was represented by George Morris with Ellen Dineen's Sinjon, and myself with Eleo Sears' Ksar d'Esprit (Hugh Wiley being sidelined by Nautical's recent illness) and thus only Spain, with its 1953 Champion, Goyoaga, was unrepresented among the leading show-jumping countries.

The first qualifying competition, a Table "A" at 400 meters per minute which resulted in a most popular and prophetic win for Raimondo d'Inzeo and Gowran Girl, who achieved the only clear round over a course which would probably have proven only moderately difficult had it not been for the rather treacherous footing. The sandy soil that characterizes Venice's Lido show-grounds made it possible to adhere to the intended schedule with only one postponement during a period in which all of Northern Italy was tormented by unusually heavy rains, but footing was difficult throughout the week, and most competitions started with standing water on the course. Gowran Girl's clear round was closely followed by two rounds marred only by time faults, myself and Ksar with 2 1/4, and Lt. Col. Hares Gamal El Din of Egypt with 2 1/2. Then came David Broome and Sunsalve with a single jumping fault, and Winkler and Halla with 4 1/2. Among other principal contenders, Thiedemann and d'Oriola with two rails down apiece, Piero d'Inzeo with two rails and time faults, and George Morris with four fences hit found themselves placed 9th, 10th, 11th and 15th respectively at the end of the first day, leaving them a lot of ground to make up.

The second qualifying competition, the Puissance, was restricted to a single jump-off, but a sizeable course made this course of cleverly calculated difficulty. Ksar, Gowran Girl and Sunsalve were clean the first time around, and Halla was penalized only for 1/4 time fault. There were no clean performances in the second round, but Gowran Girl and Sunsalve incurred only four faults each to leave them equal first, with Ksar third, 3/4 of a time fault away, and Halla and Winkler fourth with a total of 8 1/4. Though points for the final class were increased by 50%, this result left Ksar at the head of the qualification list with 74 points, followed by Sunsalve and Broome with 70.5, Gowran Girl and Raimondo d'Inzeo with 67.5 and Huipil and Carlos Delia with 63.5. Hans Winkler occupied the tantalizing fifth position, just missing qualifying for the finals quite enough to obtain a clear winner. Happily, Ksar kept his perfect record in puissance classes this year intact, and was the only horse to jump a second clear round of the six in the barrage. The two Argentinian riders, Delia and Hartkopf riding Huipil and Stromboli, moved well into contention by placing equal 2nd with 4 faults each, and David Broome and Sunsalve held their prominent position by placing 4th with 8 faults in the jump-off. Winkler and Thiedemann, with 4 faults each in the first round, and Raimondo d'Inzeo with 8 dropped back, while d'Oriola with Eclair au Chocolat retired altogether, leaving Ksar at the head of the qualification list for the finals after two days, followed by Broome and Hartkopf (equal), Delia, Raimondo d'Inzeo, Winkler and Thiedemann.

The final qualifying class under Nations Cup conditions (two rounds) saw no horse able to achieve two clear rounds over a by 1 1/2 points.

The final "round robin" ride-off for the Championship took place on Sept. 22nd and presented, as in previous years, an interesting contrast in horses and riding styles. The course was straightforward and fair, but quite difficult enough, and included an in and out of square oxers, and a four meter water jump as the last fence. Each of the four finalists rides each of the four horses in order, starting with his own, and is permitted three minutes in which to familiarize himself with the strange mounts, during which time he may jump two trial fences. Starting order is chosen by lot; since horses are variable quantities even in successive rounds, the order in which the most difficult horses are drawn can have quite a significant effect on the final result, and such was the case again this year.

Jumping Championship

Four For The Championship

The final starting order found Raimondo d'Inzeo leading off on Gowran Girl, who was generally expected to prove, along with Sunsalve, the biggest challenge to unfamiliar riders. Raimondo's astonishingly versatile talents were well mirrored by the discretion with which he nursed this plainish, short-fronted mare, not going very generously, around the course with only a single rail down.

Broome followed on Sunsalve, registering the same score on a very different type of horse. Also a difficult temperament, Sunsalve is difficult on the strong side (despite a considerable latent propensity for stopping). Just the natural balance and impulsion Gowran Girl lacks he has, the latter one might say to excess. Yet Broome's pragmatic, uncomplicated style with its frankly British origins was remarkably successful in concealing these difficulties in Venice, as it had in Rome. I followed with Ksar, and annoyingly met the "In" of the double long, to record yet another four fault round. Delia concluded the first round with a clear round on Huipil, the only rider to achieve a perfect score with his own horse. Following the giant, powerful Ksar, the small, catty Huipil seemed almost a pony, but such was his honesty that he was to register three of the four clear rounds of the afternoon. The combination of Huipil and Delia was probably the most orthodox of any of the finalists; Delia is a soundly trained rider whose classical position and technique reveals few personal idiosyncracies, and little Huipil jumped willingly and moved kindly no matter who his rider was.

The second round commenced with a fine, surprisingly steady round by Raimondo d'Inzeo on Sunsalve, hitting only the final water for four faults. Ksar also hit the water with Broome, but Huipil gave me a clear round and a little confidence, tempered by the knowledge that I would have the two "difficult" horses to ride last. My apprehensions were heightened by Delia's round on Gowran Girl, for she was nappy at the start and jumped rather resentfully throughout, incurring 12 faults, despite meeting her fences reasonably well.

Ksar presented Raimondo with a clear round to start off the third tour, and I had serious doubts about being able to get it back from Gowran Girl. There was not long to wait, for after Broome's four fault round with Huipil there I was in the ring on her, and she proved every bit as difficult as I'd anticipated. Again she was nappy at the start, discouraging me from expecting too much generosity, and three rails down plus the water gave me 16 faults without ever having found a way of riding approaches that would make her try to jump fences clean. Delia followed on Sunsalve, going a bit more rapidly now; he made only one mistake, at the water, but refused to pull up afterwards, and came to a halt only after running up onto the gate of the saddling enclosure.

As the fourth round started, Raimondo d'Inzeo, enjoying a four fault lead over Broome, his nearest rival, removed all doubt as to the eventual result by chalking up a clear round with Huipil, leaving the other finalists to compete only for the remaining three places. Broome followed on Gowran Girl, who promptly dashed his hopes with 16 faults more. It was then my turn on Sunsalve. I was reluctant to change my hold on him, and very conscious of "skating on thin ice" all the way around. Nonetheless, the thin ice was still supporting me as I came to the last water jump with a chance to clear it and be second, or touch it and be third. Neither result was the one that finally obtained, I regret to say, for I met the fence on a short stride that I couldn't get Sunsalve to take, and had to celebrate Raimondo's fine victory with a broken collar bone from a hospital bed, contemplating what happens to the best laid plans of mice, men and show jumpers! Delia's 8 faults on Ksar gave him a total of 24 and second place by four faults over Broome.

Among the final horses Huipil produced the best aggregate score with only a single fault at the water against him. Ksar's 16 faults left him second (though Sunsalve, but for his fall, might have had one fewer), and Gowran Girl amassed the "cricket score" of 48, only 4 of which were incurred with Raimondo riding towards his very convincing and well-deserved victory.

Colonel Corry Retires

Colonel Daniel J. Corry recently retired from the Army of Eire after 37 years service, and has been appointed official representative of the Irish Bloodstock Agency, one of the oldest bloodstock agencies in Ireland.

Col. Corry might well be called the doyen of the equestrian Corps Diplomatique, for since the formation of the Army jumping team in 1926 its riders have been goodwill ambassadors of which any country might feel justly proud.

With Major J. G. O'Dwyer and Captain Cyril Harty, Col. Corry was a member of the first Army jumping team to make an appearance at the Dublin Horse Show, in 1926. The following year he appeared with the team at Olympia, London, and Lucerne, Switzerland.

Col. Rodzianko

In 1923 the late Maj.-General Michael Hogan, O.C. of the Army Equitation School, was instrumental in having one of the greatest instructors in the world, Colonel Paul Rodzianko, appointed to the school, and a new page of show-jumping history began.

Col. Rodzianko had plenty of excellent, young and enthusiastic raw material in men like Major "Jed" O'Dwyer, Capt. Cyril Harty, Col. Dan Corry, the late Col. Fred Ahern, Comdt. Tom Finlay, Col. Jack Lewis, Comdt. Sean Stack, the late Comdt. Dan Leonard, and Comdt. Tommy Quinn.

Some of these men were soon to make history in the arenas of the world. They in turn were followed by equally brilliant young riders, who, whether in success or defeat, were all a credit to Ireland and to Irish sportsmanship.

Corry's Success

The years 1930 to 1939 were perhaps the most spectacularly successful in the school's history and Col. Corry contributed his share to such success. He won the R.D.S. individual championship three times - on Miss Ireland in 1937, and on Red Hugh in both 1938 and 1939. His 1938 success was particularly memorable since he had two clear rounds in the Aga Khan Cup on Red Hugh on the Friday, and on Saturday won the Individual Championship against the brilliant French horse "D'huil", after six rounds.

Col. Corry rode on all the Aga Khan Cup teams from 1926 to 1946 (excluding the years of World War II, when the team was disbanded). In 1951 he won four cups in one day at Bilbao Show in Spain on Ballycotton. In 1952, when the late Capt. Michael Tubridy got an infected throat at Nice and was unable to ride, Col. Corry, who was Chef d'Equipe, rode as substitute and won the Grand Prix on Bruree.

Again Saved Day

In 1957 when Capt. Roger Molony got a severe fall at Rotterdam, the Chef d'Equipe again saved the day by riding Ballynonty in the Prix des Nations and winning the prize for the Best Individual Performance.

This was particularly notable, since Col. Corry, whose principal work was then concerned with fielding a young team, had not competed in an international event nor ridden Ballynonty for five years.

Mexican Jumping Team

The Mexican Equestrian Federation has selected a team to represent Mexico in Harrisburg, Washington, New York and Toronto competitions, and there is great hope that Mexico will once again play a major role in international horse shows and riding competitions.

According to Clark Flores, president of the Mexican Sports Confederation, Prince Bernard of The Netherlands, President of the Federation Equestre Internationale (F.E.I.) has granted provisional recognition to the Mexican Equestrian Federation with this to be ratified by the International organization this coming December. In this manner internal rivalry in Mexico in equestrian field will be settled once and for all.

Although a rival group is also agitating to be recognized, Flores said only the Mexican Equestrian Federation is "legally recognized" and that it has been working aggressively in recent weeks to organize new clubs, acquire mounts, and give maximum impetus to the equestrian sport within the republic so that Mexico can return to peak of former eras when national riders consistently won international events.

The Department of National Defense is also cooperating in the drive to place Mexico on the map again in the field of international equestrian competitions.

Edmonton Fall

The first fall show sponsored by the fledgling Western Canada Hunter, Jumper, Equestrian Association was presented at the Edmonton Exhibition Grounds' Gardens. The Association's first major venture in the Gardens drew a total of over 400 entries and a very encouraging number of spectators. In all, the show came off very smoothly and was more than a might successful. The event will in all likelihood grow into an annual event.

Immediately prior to the show, local riders had the opportunity to sharpen their equestrian skills under the knowledgeable tutelage of Major Gutowski. The Major 'held school' for one week and effects of his teachings apparently rubbed off on a goodly number of his pupils as there was a marked improvement in the performances of many junior and senior riders. ## Horse Guard

Cold October winds blew over the First Co. Governor's Horse Guard show grounds chilling the large crowds of spectators who turned out for the 4th edition of Conn.'s largest fall show, but fortunately rain held off under black skies Sunday until vans were homeward-bound.

Competition from the Bergen Co. show in North Jersey cut entries to leave regular hunter classes unfilled, but the jumper ranks made up in quality what was lacking in numbers. Dave Kelley's little bay Donegal jumped into a lead in the first class and held off Bob Ballard's famed Windsor Castle, now with stable manager Joe Green riding, for the championship by a wide margin. In the green classes the owner-ridden Gift of Gab topped Stonebrook Farm's youngster, however.

Chris Wadsworth was the busiest man on the ground, hurrying from outside course to ring 1 to ring 2 back outside... a jeep provided by the management would have been a help. Other than that and some slowness getting set for the first class of each program, the ample military crews did well.

Strathroy

Strathroy, with a very well appointed Fair Grounds, the site of one of the Annual Canadian Pony Club Rallies, has added a Horse Show to its Fall Fair to spark up the program. It offered very good money too for a fall fair and although most of the horses were local, there were some well-known exhibitors from London, an actively horse-minded city, in a very strong hunter breeding district. ## Woodridge Park

We "Southerners" feel that there were so many highlights to our one and only all hunter show in the deep South that it will be hard to limit our natural expansiveness to one small column. First of all, the horse show grounds were groomed to perfection as were all the horses and riders to make the setting an impressive sight.

The first class for the day had caused quite a stir when the prize lists were sent out as this first class was indeed something new. The class was called "Hunters on the line" and was to be judged entirely on the condition, cleanliness, and appearance of the horse and tack - with suitability of the horse and rider also taken into account. Conformation was not to be considered. This class was introduced as the horse show management was of the opinion that there was a need for more emphasis on the proper presentation of the hunting horse into the show ring in this area. Up to this time the majority of exhibitors had never had such incentive to really "turn their horses out". After a great deal of time and effort, and much enthusiasm too, by show time 35 beautifully groomed and conditioned horses (a majority of these were Thoroughbred) were presented to the judge. It was such a grand sight that most of the bystanders could not believe that Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee possessed so many fine horses. Mrs. J. R. Greene

1964 OLYMPIC PREPARATION

Writing in the British publication "Horse and Hound", Mr. G. H. Lawton makes the following suggestions for preparing for the 1964 Olympics: -

(a) The British Horse Society would buy a number of promising horses, preferably at least 20 show jumpers and 20 Three Day Event horses.

(b) These horses would be leased to promising riders at a nominal fee, the riders to pay for their keep.

(c) Each rider would be given a broad training programme to follow, with the aim of producing horse and rider at their peak in 1964.

(d) A competent committee should make periodic checks on the progress of horses and riders.

(e) The B.H.S. should strictly control the number and type of competitions in which these horses might take part (to prevent over-showing and to ensure that only competitions which provide progressive training in the international field are used).

(f) The riders should receive any prize money won.

(g) Riders should be expected to undergo annual training courses in the "off" season to correct any faults and weaknesses. The instructors for these courses must be of world class and should preferably be the same over the four years.

In this way Great Britain could be assured of having a fairly wide choice of well-trained horses and riders by 1964.

THE NEW "METEOR"

Forward Seat Jumping Saddle

No. 498—THE "METEOR" JUMPING SADDLE: A superb new model built by Stubben in Germany on his famous Federbaum Spring Tree. The very deep seat is foam rubber padded and has recessed stirrup bars. The flap is two thirds padded with sponge rubber, doeskin covered to afford unusual security. These padded flaps will greatly reduce the feeling of stirrup leather bulk at the thigh for far greater riding comfort.

The concealed knee rolls are moulded to afford greatest support. This new model is already extremely popular in European jumping competition and we predict it will be in great demand here.

Sizes: 16½ to 19"

Fame for the d'Inzeo's

Margie P. Jenkins

On Sept. 7, 1960, at the XVII Olympiad, Rome, Italy, in the gardens of Piazza di Siena, a father sat proudly to see his lifetime dream come true - his sons Raimondo and Piero winning the much coveted gold and silver medals in the Individual Jumping Event. Their father is the famous Constante d'Inzeo, former dean of the horse faculty at the athletic university of La Farnesina. Both his sons were born with sawdust in their blood, spending their early childhood days under the strict military supervision of their father. He not only succeeded in teaching his sons the art of horsemanship, self control, love of horses and fair sportsmanship, but also succeeded in passing these qualities on to his university students.

Piero first gained world recognition by placing third in the world championship event at Paris, France, in 1953. Raimondo placed first at Aachen in 1956, becoming world champion. At the Olympic Games at Stockholm, Sweden in 1956, Raimondo placed 2nd to H. G. Winkler of Germany while Piero placed a commendable third. Both have won many championships since and are considered two of the toughest adversaries at national and international competitions. The incomparable Raimondo, still glowing with triumph over his victory at Rome, continued his winning streak, captured the likewise coveted honor of the fifth world championship at Ca'Blanca, Venice, Italy, under pouring rain which held no mercy on the 22 riders representing 13 participating nations. The beautiful silver trophy was presented to Raimondo by Prince Bernhard of Holland, also president of the FEI.

Incidentally, the first gold medal winning Italian (equestrian events) at Olympic competition was Lt. Lequo in 1920 (Prix des Nations Individual) Antwerp, Belgium.

With the guidance of papa d'Inzeo, their combined skills have turned out such famous mounts as Merana, The Quiet Man, The Rock, Posillipo and the presently renowned Gowran Girl. Italy is proud of their equestrian skills, carrying on the tradition of their world famous countrymen Federico Caprilli and his interpreter to the English speaking world, Piero Santini.

Pennsylvania National Children's Day Margaret L. Smith

A pretty miss from New Jersey captured not only the Junior Working Hunter Championship, but the combined pony reserve championship against stiff competition on Children's Day, opener of the 15th annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show in Harrisburg, Pa.

Miss Carole McNamara, of Far Hills, N. J. riding her 16.2 chestnut mare, Tardy, won the Junior Hunter Stake and the Under Saddle Class to earn 10 points for the tricolor in the Junior Hunter division. Then, riding her dappled gray pony, Jelly Bean, 14.2 hands, winner of many a championship in the past, she won two blues in the section for ponies over 13.0 hands for a total of 10 points and the combined pony reserve championship.

Famous little Smokey Joe, full of spice and pep as ever, once more asserted his superiority by taking the combined pony championship with 15 points. Owned by Elise and Billy Boyce, III, of Glencoe Md., and ridden by Linda Wood, fifteen, small for her age, Smokey won blues in the open, the appointments and the under saddle classes.

The entire competition was notable, as always, for the large number of entries. There were 72 junior working hunters in the open class, 43 large ponies, and 34 small ponies listed, for a total of 77 pint-sized steeds. Sixty-three riders were listed for the ASHA medal class, hunting seat, won by Miss Finlay Grier, of Tyrone, Pa.

Most exciting event of the day was the children's Knockdown and Out, which was scored as a touch-and-out the second time around, and thereafter. No less than 18 horses made the full course of 11 jumps without a knockdown on the first round.

Then, Jerre Frankhouser, of Gordonville, Pa., riding his albino gelding, Town Talk, came out and made the entire trip again without a touch, the only contender to do so. Two others, who cleared six fences on the jump-off, jumped again for second and third. Sandpiper, owned and ridden by Miss Brooke Miller, of Lahaska, Pa., this time went the whole round, taking second, while King of Diamonds, ridden by owner Carole Margolis, of Philadelphia, placed third. But the pet of the class was tiny Mary Wade Warner, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warner, Jr., Kennett Square, who made the course clean the first round aboard big (17 hands) St. Nick, and eventually placed sixth. She was the youngest and smallest child in the class.

The knockdown and out provided full points toward the hunter championship, which placed Town Talk on a par with Goblin, owned and ridden by Miss Cookie Emlen, of Blue Bell, Pa., each with five points, tying them for reserve championship honors. However, Jerre conceded the victory, because Town Talk had not entered any hunter classes, while Goblin had.

Pussycat, Pussycat, Where Have You Been?

My name is Chopin. I am my family's favorite cat and I want to tell you about something very strange that happened at my house a few weeks ago. Now, I'm used to the two horses that live in my barn, but on this particular day about one hundred of them invaded my private hunting preserve. There wasn't a drop of rain like there had been the week before when this was originally supposed to happen - but there WAS a mob of people and - ugh! - dogs! When I got up enough courage to take a look at the sights, I was well rewarded - all the jumps were sparkly-white and solid-looking - except for a couple of ill-fated natural rails! The grass was clipped so closely that you couldn't stalk a mouse - and did the scraps from the church ladies' chicken taste good! Suddenly, it clicked - THIS was what my mistress, Mrs. E. P. Aurand, had been working so hard on for the past several months - The Truro Parish Pony and Junior Show! And it's lucky that she did, for the whole thing HAD to run smoothly to be able to squeeze in 27 well-filled classes before the sun completely disappeared! As it was, though, the patient, conscientious judges - Mr. and Mrs. Alden

SWEET OLE DAN, a great favorite at the Onondarka Riding Club, Newhall, Calif., died in September at the age of 18. Danny was well known in show rings on the West Coast. He was loved by all the children who rode him for so many years and for whom he won ribbons.

Friday, October 28, 1960

Crane, and Mrs. Carol Miller - had to strike a match to sign their cards for the final class of the day.

I noticed one very busy exhibitor - jumping off one pony and right onto another - and always coming back to her van with a ribbon of one color or another - and most of the time a bit of silver. A little bird on a branch above my head told me that she was Bobbie Gardner and that she had quite a successful day. "But of course!" I growled, trying to sound sophisticated. That dumb bird makes me furious. I never have been able to make a meal out of him and, what's more, he knows everything about horse shows that I don't know. I think he must read "The Chronicle".

Now, I think, most everybody's happy. I'm happy because somebody remembered finally to feed me, everybody that gave so freely of their time to help out is happy because the show was a success, the exhibitors are happy because everybody was a good sport and had a good time. I'd like to mention all of the nice people and horses and ponies that came, but that would take up a whole issue of "The Chronicle". So, if you'll excuse me, I think I heard a mouse scratching around in the box with the rule books. Chopin

LEARNING TO RIDE, HUNT, AND SHOW

Gordon Wright; illustrated by Sam Savitt.

A thoroughly illustrated, step-by-step handbook for riders of all ages - but especially good for young people - by one of America's best known trainers of championship and Olympic riders. Classic horsemanship is taught in an easy, sound manner for beginners; basics are re-stated for advanced riders. Includes practical information on training and disciplining horses, increasing and decreasing speed, jumping, natural and artificial aids, F.E.I. rules, fox hunting traditions, etc.

THE HORSE AND THE BLUE GRASS COUNTRY

Bradley Smith. The spirited personality of America's horse country seen through its world-famous thoroughbreds, its people and their own special way of life, in text and photographs by the well-known photo-journalist. Both the commentary and the more than 125 beautiful color and black-and-white photographs successfully convey the legends and traditions, and the rare quality of excitement that pervades this unusual part of the country. De luxe 9" x 12½" format.

MY KINGDOM FOR A HORSE

Edited by Fairfax Downey; illustrated by Matthew Kalmenoff. A superb collection of the greatest horse stories, articles and poems of all time - a magnificent panorama of fiction, history, humor, and excitement by such authors as Mark Twain, Washington Irving, J. Frank Dobie, Alexandre Dumas, and Lafcadio Hearn. From war horses and cowboys to racers and headless horsemen, this treasure-trove will delight everyone who has ever sat astride a horse - or tried to. With 41 outstanding drawings by a noted animal illustrator.

Lucky Horseshoe

It is remarkable how a small idea can mushroom into a tradition. So it is with the annual Lucky Horseshoe Pony Show which was started some twelve years ago by some junior riders in the Genesee Valley. It began with a few classes held one sunny afternoon and now about the only thing unchanged is the sunny afternoon. The quality of riders and horses has changed radically in the years and today's riders are smartly turned out on equally good horses. This year's show had one big change - the boys took home a large share of blues!

BOOK REVIEW

WELCOME HOME! BY LUDWIG BEMELMANS. AFTER A POEM BY BEVERLEY BOBERT, N. Y., HARPER & BROTHERS, 1960, $3.95.

Here is another of Ludwig Bemelmans delightful and justly famous picture books. This one is of particular interest to Chronicle readers for two reasons. The first is that it has to do with foxhunting and particularly with a certain fox that gets away. The second is that the next to last picture shows Reynard reading, propped up in bed, resting after his ordeal, and looking at the most recent issue of The Chronicle through his spectacles, while his wife brings him tea and toast and his children look on admiringly. A most entertaining book for devotees of the noble science, young and old.

The Future of College Polo

John H. Fritz

Another summer has come to an end. It was a successful summer for the sport of polo, more games being played in more different parts of the country than ever before. Polo, like all horse sports, is growing in popularity, many new handicapped players being added to the list of the United States Polo Association each year. But while the number of polo clubs in the country has steadily grown in the past few years, college polo has failed to regain the status it had prior to World War II. As those who direct the activities of the many polo clubs throughout the country reflect on the future of their club, they might ask themselves, "What can we do to help develop polo as a college sport as a means of bringing new faces into the game?"

Before World War II, college polo teams were to be found from coast to coast. Every college or university with a cavalry or artillery ROTC unit boasted a polo team. Such teams were sponsored by the Army as part of its program to develop mounted reserve officers. Teams played on Army mounts, had coaches recruited from the ROTC staff members, and played regular schedules against other college teams and against National Guard, Reserve, and Regular Army teams. At some schools, particularly at the Ivy League schools, polo associations were organized by polo playing alumni. These associations raised funds to buy better ponies for the old school team than the regular Army mounts and to further the progress of the game at their alma mater in other ways. Many a fine polo player of the pre-war years developed his interest in the sport through one of these college teams; in many parts of the country one still finds active polo players who first learned to swing a mallet while going out for college polo. The inter-collegiate tournaments in those days had real meaning.

With World War II and the complete mechanization of the Army which followed, polo disappeared from all but a handful of our college campuses. Only in the Ivy League schools with their alumni polo associations - and for a short time in military schools such as West Point, Norwich in Vermont, and the New Mexico Military Institute - was any attempt made to keep the sport alive. In the East, thanks in large part to the enthusiasm and interest of Zenas Colt of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, it appeared for a time in the late forties as if college polo was going to regain its pre-war status. Cornell, Yale, Harvard, Princeton, and Williams all had teams, and a team was organized for the first time at Georgetown University in Washington. These teams played regularly against each other, and the inter-collegiate tournaments of the late forties and early fifties brought some really fine polo to Squadron A in New York.

Gradually, however, the tanbark floors of the pre-war mounted unit armories were cemented over until only

Squadron A remained in the East as an armory where polo might be played. At Princeton, Harvard, and Williams, where local facilities for play were no longer available, the gallant efforts of interested undergraduates to keep polo alive proved fruitless. Only at Cornell and Yale, where fortune left the old riding halls still available for polo, did a strong group of players remain. Efforts in the immediate post-war years to develop teams at Arizona, Colorado A & M, and Northwestern also proved short-lived.

In the 1950's Yale and Cornell were joined by strong teams organized at the University of Virginia and the University of Miami, and continued undergraduate interest has kept teams going from time to time at both Georgetown and Princeton. Though the number of teams competing has often been restricted to three or four, the inter-collegiate polo tournament has been held every spring since the end of the Second World War, and while not as strong as it once was, college polo still exists.

The most recent list of member clubs of the United States Polo Association lists seven schools - Cornell, Georgetown, Miami, Princeton, Stanford, Virginia, and Yale - as having polo clubs. Of these, the clubs at Cornell and Yale are the strongest as witnessed by last spring's inter-collegiate tournament. Yale defeated the University of Virginia in a semi-final round 20-2, and Cornell easily defeated Georgetown in a similar round by a score of 17-2. In the finals - a really fine game - Yale pulled an upset and defeated Cornell, winner in four out of five tournaments since 1955, by a score of 11-6.

The strength of the clubs at Cornell and Yale rests on the fact they have regular coaches - Steve "Doc" Roberts at Cornell and Al Marenholz and Frank Butterfield at Yale - and also the backing of a locally organized club or alumni association. At Virginia where polo has also been a successful sport for the past five or six years, local interest is also largely responsible. Student bodies change from year to year. A college polo team dependent only on student interest and support is bound to run into trouble when a live-wire student who has kept the club going for two or three years graduates. This has been the fate of a number of attempts to organize polo at various college campuses in the post-war years.

Here is where the United States Polo Association and its regular member clubs come into the picture. Many clubs are located in cities and areas which have colleges or universities. With a little time and effort on the part of the local club, college teams could be organized in many more of our schools than presently have such teams. The experience of college teams at places like Cornell, Yale, Virginia, and Georgetown proves it can be done with a minimum of cost and against the greatest of obstacles. What is needed, however, is the experience and judgement of a regularly organized club and the use of the club's playing facilities to help the undergraduates get going.

Foxhall Keene played on the first American International Polo Team in 1886. For 14 years he had the highest handicap in the game - 10 goals. He was one of the greatest polo players in the history of this sport in America.

Clubs in the south and southwest where the warm winter climate makes polo a year round sport are in the best position to develop college interest in polo. And it should not be hard, for polo has the speed, heated competition, and excitement which college age youths like. Regular clubs would also find that the enthusiasm and spirit of young college players would also do much to bring new life to their clubs and to develop spectator interest in their games. Experience has shown that whereas people will not turn out to see Polo Club A play Polo Club B, they will turn out in large numbers when a team from a local college or university, whose football and basketball teams they follow, plays a polo game.

College polo on a broader scale can do much for the future of the game in this country. At Cornell, Yale, and Virginia in past years many fine players such as the Baldwin brothers, Dick Riemen-schneider, Jarrett Vincent, Richie Jones, Donn Gerst, and Stan Woolaway have been developed. Some of these players have earned handicapped ratings of three or four goals while still college players.

Four preparatory schools in this country - Southern Arizona School for Boys, Judson, Culver Military Academy, and Valley Forge Military Academy - have had active polo programs with experienced coaches turning out many fine players year after year. In choosing a college, these boys look for a school where they can continue to play the game they have come to love, but with only seven colleges offering polo, and several of those among the schools that are very difficult to get into, the opportunities have not been great.

College polo once provided the sport with much of its new blood. There is no reason why the same could not again be true if more member clubs of the United States Polo Association took the initiative and supported a college team at the college or university in their area.

Tulsa Defeats Aiken

Bill Briordy

Jules Romfh tallied six goals as Tulsa turned back Aiken, 9 to 2, in the 12-goal final round match of the national inter-circuit polo championship tournament at the Meadow Brook Club, Jericho, L.I., on Sunday, Sept. 25. The match was played for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association of Long Island.

Romfh put Tulsa ahead with a sharp angled drive in the first chukker. He had it 2-0 in the second period before Vince Rizzo broke the ice for Aiken in the same session.

Two goals by John Oxley Sr. and Romfh made the score 5-1 in the fourth period. Romfh added three more goals in the fifth chukker to complete the rout.

Tulsa	Aiken
1. J. Oxley Sr.	H. Manning
2. J. Oxley Jr.	V. Rizzo
3. J. Romfh	W. Ylvisaker
B. K. Cooley	W. Farrish

Goals - Tulsa: Romfh 6, Oxley Sr. 2, Cooley. Aiken: Rizzo, Ylvisaker.

University of Virginia Polo

Ed Lovern

Three aggressive Cavalier poloists racked up their second victory of the fall season by outplaying Georgetown University's team to a tune of 8-3 (on Oct. 9) at Brook Hill Farm in Charlottesville.

The University of Virginia riders had little difficulty controlling the match from the beginning. They scored in every chukker with every member of the squad collecting at least one point during the afternoon.

The Hoyas held Captain Will Farrish scoreless for the first two periods, but he tallied in every chukker from then on and rolled up a personal score of five goals.

Claxton Long, playing the #1 position for Virginia, opened the scoring by intercepting a Georgetown knock-in early in chukker one. With a single powerful shot, he reversed the direction of the ball blasting it through the uprights.

Don Grubbs gave the determined Cavaliers a two point lead as the period ended and then inched the score to 3-0 in the opening seconds of chukker two, on a back-hand relay from Farrish.

Georgetown was reasonably capable on defense, but Virginia's teamwork and play-making proved devastating nearly every time the Cavaliers sprung loose past the Hoya #3.

Almost never did a University of Virginia rider hesitate to leave the ball to ride off an opponent while a second Cavalier followed through with the shot.

Led by Carlos Rizo-Patron, an experienced poloist from Peru, the visitors fought back throughout the match.

Several times they brought the ball to the posts only to lose it to a sweeping Cavalier defense in the last second. Much of their trouble might be attributed to their unfamiliarity with the mounts furnished by the home team or with Brook Hill Farm's dirt field.

The Georgetown victory was Virginia's second in two weeks over a highly rated team. The previous Sunday at Brook Hill, they mauled the Winchester Polo Club, 12-1.

Georgetown	0 0 0 1 0 2	3
U. Va.	2 1 1 1 1 2	8

Georgetown: Carlos Rizo-Patron 2, Ric Otto 1; U. Va: Will Farrish 5, Don Grubbs 2, Claxton Long 1.

Letters To The Editor

"Sobeit"

Dear Sir:

I thought you might enjoy these lines from the December 13, 1910 issue of "The Horseman and Spirit of the Times". It is discussing racing in the good old days (1860's).

"The racing was genuine and that fact aroused enthusiasm and stimulated breeding as no cut and dried grand circuit processions ever did or ever will. As an editor of a local paper recently expressed it in his account of a matched race - it would thrill the heart of an anchorite because it was real and earnest. Not only editors, but clergymen - I noted the faces of several gentlemen of the cloth close up to the rail along the stretch eager and intent. One of them owns and drives a matched pair of Standardbred mares that would shine at Madison Square. Those genuine contests of the 60's built up an industry founded on sentiment and enthusiasm. When they gave way to the cut and dried business of circuit racing, interest declined and the sport was moribund long before the auto came. That scared horsemen as well as horses, until it became apparent that the gas bugaboo only increased the value and number of horses. People now use the auto to get to the races, which is about their most legitimate function and entitles them to a small degree of toleration."

Sobeit.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ed Filer
R.D. 4
Greenville, Pa.

Junior Jumpers

Dear Sir:

The Oakland Junior Horse Show held at Oakland Academy, Oakland, New Jersey on October 9th again proved that there are a number of very good junior riders of jumpers. The inclusion of junior jumper sections by more and more shows where the youngsters can compete with their contemporaries over good courses is doing much to encourage and bring out the best in the juniors.

The Puissance Class ended in a two-way duel between Cocoa, owned and ridden by Sheila Curren and Tiny Tim, owned by the Van Saun Riding School and shown by Naomi Herzbach. The two remaining fences were raised to the junior maximum, with Cocoa coming out on top by going the course clean while Tiny Tim collected three faults on the first fence.

What's Stopping You Old Folks

Dear Sir:

I agree with "Sourpuss" (Friday, September 9, 1960), who wrote the letter "To Hell With Kids" that there should be more "30 years and older" classes. But the "old folks" have a good chance if they go to the right shows and enter the right classes.

One show I went to recently had "Old Smoothie" classes, in which only adults could enter. BUT, only four people entered that division. I think "Sourpuss" should start his own show.

Sincerely,
Julie Taylor

Lincoln, Va.

How To Be A Steward

(EDITOR'S NOTE: - In an interview with Marshall Cassidy, columnist Tom O'Reilly of "The Morning Telegraph" elicited from the former the information that he had once put down for the benefit of his brother, Wendell, the basic requirements for being a racing Steward. As a good reporter Mr. O'Reilly duly secured a copy of this list and published it with this comment: "There is only one thing the writer can add to that - take Sunday off! Good morning judge!" The list follows.)

*Always take as much time for an important decision as you possibly can.

*Never take action against a person until everyone else who may contribute may be heard as well.

*Never disqualify a horse unless the facts are clear. When in doubt don't disqualify.

*A disqualification does not indicate a punishment to the rider unless he is guilty of deliberate acts or is guilty of over-zealous acts that may hinder another horse, or if he is guilty of carelessness.

*Trust everyone until you learn differently, but watch everyone.

*Your failure to do your job well is more serious than the act of a careless jockey.

*Listen to every complaint. Investigate thoroughly. Get corroboration before action.

*Hire a private investigator of your own, at your own expense, if necessary. You owe it to racing to do a good job.

*Spend one or two mornings each week in the stable area. Be on hand for scratch time and entry-taking time.

*Allow anyone to scratch without questioning his reason if it does not reduce the field below six. Below that, for any good reason.

*Listen to every groom, exercise boy or anyone's complaint and try to render good advice. Be careful not to take action which isn't provided for by rules or law.

*Try to encourage a weekly meeting at or before luncheon of all major officials for informal discussion.

*Remember that although the stewards have control over all other officials, each official has his own prerogative and domain. Do not interfere unless absolutely necessary.

*Go into the jockey's room at intervals to inspect for faults and to help.

*Do not get too familiar with jockeys or horsemen but be a good friend at all times.

*Take a walk around the grounds occasionally to include the track itself. Although you are not responsible for it you should be able to render service when requested.

*Study the form of all entries before the races and have established in your mind how each horse should run.

*Study every jockey to learn his characteristics.

*Learn all racing colors well and identify each horse on the way to the post, noting his equipment as you do so on your program.

*Make notes on your program of all happenings in a race that you see and if reported by another, note them but put initials of person reporting. Save your programs.

*If anything occurs that may be serious, question the jockeys or persons involved immediately.

*Send for people to come to the stewards' stand only when time is essential. Otherwise, see them in the stewards' room. Make notes of all questions and answers and keep filed for future reference.

*Keep your own records of fines and punishments of all persons so you recall more readily when you hear a name.

*Never rush to get home after the last race. Take your time as important matters may come up after you leave.

When it comes to horses the Englishman looks, the German meditates, and the Frenchman thinks of other things.

*Study track conditions and construction. Spend time with the track superintendent. Carefully watch how a track is worked and why.

*Spend a lot of time in the blacksmith shop learning the care of a foot and how to properly shoe horses. Learn all types of shoes and the reason for their uses.

*Go on the morning rounds with the examining vets. Watch them work and learn to know when they do their work properly - what they look for in physical unfitness and identification marks.

*Watch horses train in the morning with any of the trainers you know. Watch feeding, care and comforts of the horse, the grooms and entire stable help - their living conditions, eating facilities, etc.

*Stay at the tracks at night for a few hours while horses are being fed and bedded down.

*Watch the track being groomed for the next day.

*Find out about horse feed and where it is obtained, what is used and the prices. All the knowledge that you can obtain about these facts might help you to be of value to the horsemen at some time a dispute may arise.

*Study the sanitary conditions around the barn area.

*Watch the men under you to assure yourself that they are the right men for the jobs. Don't let sentiment influence you. Misfits spoil the industry. Know each man's job as well or better than they do.

*Be careful not to interfere in another man's domain. You are not the manager or other official, or owner, trainer or jockey. Only give advice when you are asked. Don't criticize unless you are sure that you have a remedy for the thing you criticize.

*Remember you are the standard. Do all that is right and proper, so live accordingly. If you are not prepared to do just that, don't take on this job because from the day you take it you are like an actor on a stage and neither the public nor the personnel will accept mistakes in conduct.

*Learn your rule book backwards so you can apply the proper rule to the proper occasion. Always bear in mind that your every act may be reviewable in the courts. Don't be timid but be sure you are right before going ahead.

*Have a care for the physical inspection of the jockeys. They must have periodical blood tests as well as physical check-ups to be in the proper condition to ride and do justice for the public who bet their money.

*See everyone who wants to talk with you or the stewards. Insist on respect for the position that you occupy but do not be high-hat with anyone. Do not lower your dignity by entering into word fights or other conflicts. There are plenty of paid police to take care of the unruly.

*Be friendly with the press but never partial. Give news to all and not to one or two.

"THE DRUID"

In the Stewards' room at Catterick racecourse I was presented with a picture of Henry Hall Dixon ("The Druid"), the greatest of all sporting writers past or present. He had a long association with "Bell's Life," the forerunner of The Sporting Life.

All of us who have tried to chronicle the doings of the Turf, the chase and the stud, together with pen portraits of those prominently associated with all three, have been, and are, under a tremendous debt to "The Druid's" "Post & Paddock", "Silk and Scarlet", "Scott & Sebright", "Field and Fern", and his delightful writings generally. In addition, thousands of others all over the world have found, and still find, his books of deep interest, full of information, and written in a style H.H.D. made his own. None of those who have succeeded him in delineating the same interests have succeeded in presenting their literary wares with the same charm and grace. As J. B. Booth rightly says in his "Life of The Druid"... "he is the common sun whereat our modern sporting writers have lighted their little torches."

H.H.D. was born 1822 at Warwick Bridge, near Carlisle. He was educated at Rugby and Cambridge and was then articled to a solicitor in Doncaster, who hated racing. However, "The Druid" (who had written much for "Bell's Life" when at Rugby), became a contributor on Turf & country topics to the Doncaster Gazette, of which he later became editor-manager. He left Doncaster for London and became a member of the staff of "Bell's Life". This was the real start of his brilliant career. Although he reached the top of the tree in his profession his monetary reward was never commensurate, for he never made more than 600 pounds a year. He died in 1870 at the age of 48 but his books are immortal. I have always had a tremendous admiration for "The Druid" and his work, so value the picture of this great master more than I can say. J.F.B.

A WEAK MOMENT

When Thoroughbred breeder and owner John Galbraith's Pittsburgh Pirates won the World Series, the announcer interviewing Mr. Galbraith after the deciding game tried to pin the Pirate's president into making a decision in a weak moment. He asked if the victory gave him a bigger thrill than a Kentucky Derby victory would. Mr. Galbraith wasn't buying the loaded question. He said that the interrogator had him at a disadvantage at the moment, or words to that effect. M.R.

CHARLIE BARRIE

Mr. Charles J. Barrie, a familiar figure in the horse show world, entered the Hackensack Hospital, Hackensack, New Jersey and was operated on August 20th. Latest reports are that Mr. Barrie is well on the way to recovery and will be home in about two weeks.

MILLBROOK ROUND TABLE

In the Thursday, October 6th issue of the weekly newspaper "Millbrook Round Table", published at Millbrook, Dutchess County, N. Y., Mrs. Paul E. Peabody, Joint Master of the Millbrook Hunt, writes a guest editorial on foxhunting which includes quotations from most of the editorial "Foxhunting and Land Values", which appeared in the Dec. 2, 1955 issue of The Chronicle.

TRYON ARRIVALS

There have been two new arrivals to Tryon "horse folk". Mr. and Mrs. Eligio ("Jo Jo") Del Guercio of Fairview Farms had a son, Kenneth, on September 24th. Mr. Del Guercio is Honorary Whipper-in for Tryon Hounds and Fairview is one of the main hunting areas. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Rooks had a son, Michael John, on August 30th. Mrs. Rooks was Anne Machold, former Joint M.F.H. of the Limestone Hunt. She owns the well known horse "Count To Ten". John Rooks manages The Cotton Patch and is a familiar show ring figure. L.L.L.

HONORED AT HARRISBURG

The 1960 Pennsylvania National Horse Show was dedicated to two men who worked tirelessly in behalf of the Show during its 15 years of existence, and who died since the 1959 Show.

They were Harry G. Banzhoff, secretary, and Clarence G. (Red) Moss, vice president and announcer, who died respectively last January and late June - a great loss to all who knew them.

Mr. Banzhoff, for many years before World War II, participated actively in horse shows, both as a rider and in management. A veteran of World War I, he organized and commanded the First Pennsylvania Cavalry Squadron, incorporated into the Pennsylvania State Guard of the Commonwealth after the National Guard was called into Federal service in 1941. From the inception of the Pennsylvania National in 1946, he served as its secretary until his untimely death last January.

"Red" Moss, vice president from the organization of the show, handled the broadcasting and announcing every day of the week-long show for 15 years. In addition, he took a leading part in the preparation of the constantly expanding divisions and classes. Taking over Mr. Banzhoff's chores last February, he spent countless days in revamping the program for this 1960 show, until his unexpected death. Both are greatly missed this year. M.L.S.

CARMICHAEL'S MOVE

Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Carmichael and family are moving to Niles, Michigan. The Carmichaels plan to keep the Block House, site of the Tryon Race Meeting, for summer and vacation use. L.L.L.

TRYON HORSE NEWS

Mrs. Paul Joseph has purchased the bay Thoroughbred mare "Gino Doe". She won the working hunter class at the Canton, N.C. show with her. Comoco Farms raised an orphan filly by "Night Lark" on a bottle. The foal's dam died of an internal hemorrhage when it was a day and a half old. The filly foaled May 27th is strong and the same size as other foals her age. L.L.L.

WARRENTONIANS TO HUNT IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thornton Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Melville Barns, all of Warrenton, Va., are currently in England where they expect to hunt with the Bicester, the Warwickshire and the Pychley.

KENTUCKY BREEDERS HONOR MRS. PERSON

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Person of Llangollen Farm, Upperville, Va., has been selected by the Kentucky Thoroughbred Breeders Association as the recipient of the "Ladies Sportsmanship Annual Award of 1960". Mrs. Person will be honored at a luncheon to be held in the clubhouse dining room at Churchill Downs on Saturday, October 29th, the opening day of the fall meeting.

CARL SCHILLING

Carl Schilling, who has managed some of the best hunter and jumper show stables in the country including those of Jean Cochrane of Fairfield, Conn. and August A. Busch Jr. of St. Louis, Mo., has recently taken over the post of manager of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. DuBois's Man o'War Farms on the Huffman Mill Pike near Lexington, Ky. Incidentally Mr. and Mrs. DuBois also had show horses for a number of years. The stallions Bernburgoo, Federal Hill, *Hesiod, Johns Joy and Super Devil will make the 1961 season at Man o'War.

Chauncey Stillman, of New York, has purchased from the Hon. Mrs. Ionides, the Hackney four-in-hand Vulcan, Achadoon, Doonfoot, Brig o'Doon, Camperdoon and Lorna Doon. Mr. Stillman plans to show the four-in-hand at the winter shows. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haydon, who produced the team in England for Mrs. Ionides, will come to this country in October to do the same for Mr. Stillman. Mrs. Haydon has driven the team to most of their show successes in England. This season it was first and champion in the Coaching Marathon at the Royal Windsor, Richmond Royal and Royal Counties shows. Driving as a pair, Vulcan, Achadoon and Vulcan Doonfoot, were first at Royal Windsor, the Bath and West, Royal Norfolk, Royal at Cambridge, National Hackney, Kent County, Royal International and British Timken shows.
